Domestic Violence Prevention and Intervention

The Family Violence Prevention Services \(FVPSA\) program is a free and confidential service for victims of domestic violence and their children to help find shelter and help right away. FVPSA offers help in all 50 states and has over 600 local programs.

In addition to safety planning for individuals and families, FVPSA helps people get counseling and legal support. FVPSA also helps with emergency shelter, housing options, and support groups.

Help with Housing

The Continuum of Care \(CoC\) Homeless Assistance Program is there for people escaping domestic violence. The program helps run local homeless shelters and housing programs, which are often the first places survivors go when they need help.

www.benefits.gov/benefit/5889

The CoC Program makes sure that all residents get housing assistance no matter what their citizenship status or income are. Additionally, it trains staff on how to recognize and respond to abuse, while raising awareness about domestic violence.

You can contact your local housing programs using the Public Housing Agency contact information page to apply. www.hud.gov
